Still looking for 37 members to pay their dues.

Bob also advises that he is doing fine and will be working on the golf course again this summer, but his knees are still a problem so he will decide this Fall on whether or not to replace his knees. Bob is also concerned about our finances. We took a hit, and need to be careful how we spend our cash...hopefully we’ll see a rebound in our Fidelity investments.

EDITOR'S NOTES: This issue we've got an article on Hugh McCulloch, a Comptroller of the Currency and Lincoln's third Secretary of the Treasury. He was born in Maine and moved to Indiana where he was a successful banker before being recruited to help develop the National currency system and later serve as Secretary of the Treasury. I'm looking forward to attending the Memphis show later this month and will report on it in the next Rag Picker. I am now writing a column for Bank Note Reporter in addition to the price guide column. This replaces Allen Mincho's long running column, as he was just too busy to continue. Let me know what you think of the column...or the Rag Picker, or whatever at: billb3883@verizon.net

OUR COVER: This is a 1902 Red Seal from my collection. I purchased it at the big Michigan National Bank note sale at Chicago in 2007. It features the object of our feature article. Issued on The First National Bank of Detroit, Charter 2707, this note was signed by Bank President D B Ferry, who was also the President of the Ferry Seed company, a Detroit corporation that was headquartered from a large downtown building on Beaubien Street. The building was still there when I was a Police Inspector at the Detroit Police Headquarters building at 1300 Beaubien. I'll have to check it out and see if the building is still there the next time I get to downtown Detroit.

KARL'S COMMENTS

By Karl Mark Pall

The spring MSNS convention is behind us and our portion of the co-sponsorship money is in the treasury. I am happy to report that the three hundred dollars for expenses that the membership authorized was not used....So our earnings are pure profit.

PMCM members need to thank our volunteers who provided the much needed work: Dan Freeland, Bill Herzog and Bill Brandimore and family. Of course I was there, did my share...and tried to stay out of the way of the important workers.

The spring conventions format changed by one day. It was difficult to adjust to the early start and early end. Late Sunday arrivals were too late.

SPRING MEETING

Our paper money meeting was held one day earlier so turn out was not as great as I would have wanted. The meeting authorized me to get 3 more years of the Dr. Wallace Lee Award, 2010, 2011 and 2012. We have 2009 plaque and medal to give out at the fall 2009 show.

Judges for the fall will be Bill Herzog and Bill Brandimore. President emeritus, Wally Lee was not at the spring show and his present plans do not include the fall show. I am hoping to get Cliff Mishler to be chief judge. Wally said he will do a good job!

WALLY LEE

Wally asked me to let everyone know that the treatments for his stroke are not responding as well as expected, preventing him from active movements. He and Sue did not have their tables, so they are sending their hello's through me.

You can call Wally at: 248 628-2717 or Email at:wlee002@cfl.com. I know he would like to hear from you.

BOB THIEL

Great news! Our treasurer, Bob Thiel is moving about. His broken bones have mended and he is walking unaided. Bob has indicated that he would seek his last term at this fall convention. He also said he would assist the new treasurer to take his place.

Board member Dan Freeland indicated he was interested to take Bob's place and they would work out transition details. So far...everyone has said they will seek re election.

THE WALLACE LEE AWARD

Again, I urge every member, to enter the Fall MSNS educational displays. We have so much knowledge within our ranks that it must be shared. The Lee award for best of show from the PMCM is one of the finest in the state. Persons at the shows look at the medal, and ask about it.

FALL SHOW

Working with MSNS, as the educational chair, I will be contacting members to be part of a "round table discussion on Michigan Paper Money". A broad topic for the fall show. The round table would include discussion back and forth with audience participation with questions and answers.

FALL MEETING

We will be holding our fall meeting with elections of officers for two years. Room location will be in the program. Think of items you wish to have brought up for discussion. Thanks to all for our successes!

As always.....Best.....Karl

A HOOSIER BY CHOICE AND A BANKER BY CHANCE

by George B. Fitzgerald

Hugh McCulloch was born in Maine in 1808 and came to Fort Wayne, Indiana in June of 1833 where he set up a law practice. He was appointed Judge in 1834 but soon after changed vocations and went into Banking in October of 1835 as the Cashier and manager of the Fort Wayne branch of the State Bank of Indiana. He later became president of the Fort Wayne branch and then President of the State Bank of Indiana in 1855.

After visiting Indianapolis and South Bend Indiana and finding them unsatisfactory he settled on Fort Wayne and gained some prominence after a 4th of July speech he delivered. This probably led to his being offered the Judgeship.

Prior to his being named bank president in 1855 his banking responsibilities caused him to make a 3 day horseback trip to Indianapolis every three months. This was a ride through woodland with thousands of dollars in his saddle bags. He did this without fear and without a firearm! As President, McCulloch signed as many as 3,000 notes per day, signing all notes issued by all 20 branches.

After serving a number of years as president of the bank, McCulloch took a 25th Wedding Anniversary trip to Washington D.C. in 1863. As a courtesy he stopped by Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon Chases's office and left his card. On his return to Fort Wayne he received a telegram that would change his life and U.S. fiscal policy.

The telegram asked him to take on the job of Comptroller of the Currency under Secretary Chase and President Abraham Lincoln. McCulloch had a reputation as a solid banker. He believed in hiring the right people and paying them sufficient enough salary that they could live comfortably without stealing. He then required their entire services. He also felt it was not proper to retain people who lived extravagantly, as this was not consistent with a career in banking. He also initially opposed the concept of National banks as that would have been in competition with State banks. McCulloch took the job in Washington at considerable financial sacrifice.

McCulloch performed his tasks in an admirable fashion. He had the support of numerous bankers in taking on this role. Later Lincoln asked him to serve as Secretary of the Treasury. In the last letter Lincoln wrote before his assassination he told McCulloch that it would be his job to see that the veterans of the Civil War were paid and that it was his responsibility to take care of the huge financial debt the country found itself in as a result of the war.

He handled this in such an efficient manner that President Johnson asked him to remain as his Secretary of the Treasury. Later in life, after a return from a European tour, President Chester Arthur asked him to be his Secretary of the Treasury.

McCulloch was present at Lincoln's bedside when he died. This came about as he was awakened by the attempted assassination of Secretary of State Seward, a close neighbor. McCulloch responded to Seward's home and on hearing of Lincoln's shooting responded to that scene, as well. Receiving information from a blind man on the Sunday after the assassination, McCulloch was able to direct soldiers to the Surat home where Seward's attacker was found and arrested.

McCulloch also visited Confederate President Jefferson Davis after his arrest.

Within two years of the ending of the Civil War, McCulloch had succeeded in putting the country on a sound fiscal basis, no doubt leading to his popularity and extended periods of government service. Hugh McCulloch died in 1895 after a long and distinguished career as a Banker and public official of the highest caliber. His portrait graces the $20 National Bank notes of the Third issue, Read Seals, Date Backs and Plain Backs. This is a fitting distinction, given his contribution to the National Banking system as Comptroller of the Currency and Secretary of the Treasury.

DOLLARSAVR’S RESEARCH

The Paper Money Collectors of Michigan is a great opportunity to access the Currency-Collecting community.

Here is the March 2009 update about my study of the series 2003a $1 Star Replacement Notes. I am researching the Atlanta District star printing for the 100,000 sheet (3.2 million note) run 4 printed in Washington DC. My desire is to obtain information about all star notes from the last 5,350 sheets starting with sheet 94,650 up to 100,000 and in this serial number range: F09694650* through F12799999*. (See Chart)

To review, this project began following observation of printing anomalies found in the $1 series 2003 “E-J” business block. I found a Bureau of Engraving and Printing production or security deviation which I still cannot understand even after logging data for over 15,000 “E-J” plus 3,000 2003a star notes. To date, nobody has come forward to discuss or explain the deviation of position numbers.

Some of the data listed on this chart was provided by fellow collectors. I would like to acknowledge; Karol Winograd; Hank Krolokowski; Robert Grenier; Greg Simms; Charlie Weco; and especially Rich McCallister for their help. Thank you!
